

All Evil Has One Thing In Common: Humans

Throughout history

every nation

Had a different story

With one thing in common

It was filled with humans rotten

To the core

Sinners who enslaved others, stole or killed, maybe started wars

Sinners who committed evil in the name of our God

Others who committed evil just because

And even in biblical times, some folks wore this facade

You think they are on God's side

You think they are followers of Christ; parishoners of His bride

You allow them

Who most of us have condemned

To dictate who can and can't have a relationship with the Lord

Stop talking to His children and start looking upward

We do our best to follow God's law

But we are miserably flawed

That's why we needed a savior

That's why Jesus came

And he'll be back again

It's not a religion

It's a relationship

In the spirit of religion, evil was committed

And now, in the spirit of acceptance, evil continues to be committed
